

ACCUSE CAPTAIN OF LEAVING TWO MEN TO DROWN

Made No Effort to Save Sailors Swept Overboard, Is Charge.

Capt. Parker R. Knowlton of the Kerr Steamship Company is free on $25,000 bail to-day for arraignment before United States Commissioner McCabe in Brooklyn to-morrow for alleged neglect of duty when he was in charge of the steamship Westbrook, in October. It involves alleged violation of the law of rescue at sea.

Capt. Knowlton has entered a plea of not guilty. He is thirty-eight years old and lives in Seaford, Del. The United States Marshal had been seeking him for more than a month when he was found yesterday.

The complainant is Nathan Newman, a dealer in printers supplies of No. 154 Nassau Street. Newman charges in an affidavit that his son, Herbert E. Newman, twenty-four years old, was washed from the deck of the steamer Westbrook in October by a heavy sea off the Port of Hamburg, and that Knowlton made no attempt to save him. P. Norvold, a Norwegian, was swept into the sea by the same wave.

Two members of the Westbrook's crew have submitted affidavits charging Knowlton with putting to sea from Hamburg in heavy weather when the deck gear of the ship was loose, its wireless apparatus ineffective and with not having sufficient life preservers, life boats, rafts and a life gun on deck. The affidavits also charge that Knowlton sent the two lost sailors on deck to lash down an ammonia tank when heavy seas were crashing across the decks of the ship and that he failed to stop the ship or make any attempt at rescue when it was reported to him the two men had been swept overboard.

SIX YEARS' SENTENCE FOR FAKE COLLECTOR

Charles S. Kline Obtained $20,000 for Ukrainian Committee.

With five prior convictions on his police record, Charles S. Kline, of No. 605 Lenox Avenue, was to-day sentenced to Sing Sing for six years by Judge McIntyre in General Sessions on three indictments charging larceny. Kline obtained about $20,000 from philanthropic persons in this city by representing himself as collecting money for a so-called Russian Ukrainian Relief Committee. He used bogus credentials bearing the names of Judge Rosalaky, Samuel Untermyer and Louis Marshall.

Judge Rosalaky once sent Kline to Sing Sing for five years for grand larceny and he had been convicted of forgery in this city and Philadelphia.

CUSTOMS EXEMPTION OPPOSED BY TAILORS

It Allows Tourists $250 of Personal Articles, Duty Free.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A protest has been filed with the Senate Finance Committee by the National Association of Merchant Tailors against the provision in the Fordney Tariff Bill which would permit residents of the United States returning from abroad to bring into the country, duty free, $250 worth of personal belongings purchased overseas. The association also asked that the present allowance of $100 be repealed.

The protest, which was signed by Wilbur W. Stewart, president of the association, says this would affect only those residents "who can afford to travel to Europe several times a year." The association says the Government would lose the revenue on approximately $33,000,000 worth of goods.

WIFE MAY DIVORCE CHARLES GARLAND, SCORNER OF MONEY

Heir to Million Stoutly Insists He'll "Die Broke"—Wants Nothing.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 12.—Friends of Mrs. Charles Garland said to-day she probably would seek a divorce from the young reclusive who insists he is going to "die broke." Charles admits that wife is no longer in sympathy with all his views, and intimates he expects their separation to be permanent.

Mrs. Garland is secluded in the home of her parents in Dedham and refuses to discuss the views of her husband that led to their separation. Nor will she discuss his plan to give her one-third of his inheritance. Her father said he did not know whether she would accept the one-third of a million and did not know whether the couple's separation would be permanent.

In answer to the persistent arguments of an insurance man who had had visions of landing a big policy, Charles Garland to-day explained the ideas that led him first to refuse his father's $1,000,000 legacy and now to accept it only for the purpose of giving it away again.

Milton H. Goshien of New Bedford, Mass., drove all day over rocks and stumps to the clearing where stands the far-paperyed shack that is Garland's home.

Garland said he carried no insurance, and added that he will not need any to cover inheritance taxes, as he is not going to leave any inheritance. His wife and daughter, he explained, will receive a third of the million now. Mrs. Garland, he said, he understood is planning to build a house with some of her third. He was reticent about her absence from the farm.

Both Hamilton and James Garland profess themselves extremely happy and at peace with their wives.

FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT BY BROOKLYN BLAZE

Four Alarms for Factory Fire in Williamsburg District.

Because of the high wind and the proximity of many tenements, four alarms were sounded for a fire early to-day in the Empire Molding Company's factory at No. 391 Leonard Street, in the Williamsburg district of Brooklyn. Families living in houses on each side of the factory were ordered out.

The police reserves of the Herbert Street Station had considerable trouble in quieting the excited tenants. No one was injured. The fire was under control in half an hour. Its origin is unknown. The damage was small.
